Gateway selected to host Chinese vocational leadership training delegates

Gateway Technical College has been selected to host four Chinese delegates from the Tianjin Sino-German Vocational Technical College and Chengde Petroleum College Nov. 3-Nov. 10 as part of a vocational leadership program.

Gateway was selected by the American Association of Community Colleges (AACC) as one of four host colleges for the Vocational Leadership Training (VELT) Program because of its innovative programs and international study opportunities and connections. Delegates in the VELT program will tour all of Gateway's facilities and interact with instructors, administrators and other educational leaders at the college to learn from its standards and practices. From that, they hope to glean best practice methods they can apply at their colleges in China.

Delegates will also tour and interact with several of Gateway's business partners to see the many ways the college engages with industry and better understand the role these partners play in curriculum development, equipment and resources.

The VELT program is financed by the Chinese government with the support of the Chinese Ministry of Education and jointly run under the supervision and administration of AACC and the China Education Association for International Exchange (CEAIE).

For more information, please contact Gateway Executive Vice President/Provost Zina Haywood, (262) 564-3104.

Gateway Technical College collaborates with communities in Kenosha, Racine and Walworth counties to ensure economic growth and viability by providing education, training, leadership and technological resources to meet the changing needs of students, employers and communities.
