Our thoughts and prayers are with our community this morning.

Last evening was another night of destruction and, sadly, death in Kenosha. We grieve for our community, for those who live in it and for those who have been affected by the events of the past several days.

The turmoil we are all witnessing is tearing apart the fabric of our community. As citizens it is our responsibility to use our voices in constructive and meaningful ways. Our voice serves as a bond between humans and it can express love or hatred. It is imperative that I ask you to consider the consequences of the actions taking place on our streets and in our neighborhoods and encourage others to do so, as well.

Use your voice in whatever means you can to express hope, compassion and healing to all those impacted by civil unrest and to bring our community back together to address social justice, respect and dignity for all.

The actions over the last few days have lasting impacts on the livelihoods of our businesses, the wellbeing of our children and the future of our community. The power to change the course of action rests within each of us.

Let's use that power to embrace one another as we acknowledge the pain and frustration as we work to bring the Kenosha community together.

Respectfully,

A handwritten signature in black ink that reads "Bryan Albrecht". The signature is fluid and cursive, with the first letters of the first and last names being capitalized and prominent.
