How to Identify

Sentence Fragments

A fragment is an incomplete sentence. It is missing one or more of the following parts:

- ◇ a subject
- ◇ a verb
- ◇ a coherent thought

Example:

Yesterday, while I was driving to work and saw a bird in the middle of the road out in the storm.

Grammatical Error: This sentence fragment does not contain an independent clause because of the word "while." Therefore, it does not contain a complete thought even though there is a subject and a verb.

Reasoning: This sentence fragment does not tell you what happened when you saw a bird sitting in the middle of the road out in the storm.

Learning about Strengths - Includer

"Stretch the circle wider." This is the philosophy around which you orient your life if you're an "Includer".

This Merriam Webster Dictionary defines this noun as "one that includes".

It doesn't begin to define the true depth of the Includer. Their accepting, thoughtful nature increases participation and communication. It also cultivates diversity by tolerance and acceptance. They have the innate need to make sure everyone is included and no one is on the outside looking in. They look to expand the group so that all can learn and benefit.

Ideas for action:

- Take on a role where you can act as a spokesperson and represent voices that are not usually heard.
- Help those who are new to the organization get to know others by introducing them around or invite them to participate in a group.
- Use your insight to help find common ground and value in others' contributions.
- You can find the good in everyone even when they may seem unlikable to others. Let others know you are here to help when they can't find any common ground with a co-worker.
- Partner with someone who possesses the activator or command theme when you need to deliver news that may cause hard feelings.

Working with Includers:

- Use this person when hosting group functions to see that no individual is left out.
- If you have trouble in a social setting stay close to this person they will make sure you are part of the interactions.
- This person may be an excellent resource when looking to reach potential customers.

As an Includer your conviction is that fundamentally we are all the same. We are all equally important. Thus, no one should be ignored. Each of us should be included. It is the least we all deserve. (Strengthfinder 2.0)
