Gateway to hold winter birds seminar

Gateway Technical College will hold a seminar on winter birds 4:30 p.m. to 6 p.m. Nov. 14 at its Center for Sustainable Living on its Kenosha Campus, 3520-30th Ave., Kenosha.

Well-known Hoy Audubon Society member and area birding expert Rick Fare will give the presentation.

Attendees will learn about the psychological and behavioral adaptations birds have developed to survive Wisconsin's cold winters and how they can help them by using different types of feeders and food. Tips will also be provided on how to identify the state's winter birds.

The workshop is free. Those wishing to attend are asked to RSVP Kallie Johnson at (262) 564-2196 or johnsonka@gtc.edu.

Gateway Technical College collaborates with communities in Kenosha, Racine and Walworth counties to ensure economic growth and viability by providing education, training, leadership and technological resources to meet the changing needs of students, employers and communities.
