Other events this month include:

- “The History of Hats and Headdresses Around the World” will discuss the cultural significance and impact of women’s hats, headdresses and wraps. Refreshments will be served and attendees are encouraged to wear a unique hat, headdress or wrap. This will be held 10 a.m. March 18 at the Kenosha Campus Student Commons.
- “Girl Rising,” a documentary film that journeys around the world documenting the lives of nine girls. A light breakfast will be served. It will be shown at 10 a.m., March 21 at two locations:
 - Racine Campus, Lake Building, Multicultural Room
 - Elkhorn Campus, South Building, Room 112
- “Ain’t I a Woman” will showcase a musical and theatrical celebration of four renowned African American women, Zora Neale Hurston, Clementine Hunter, Sojourner Truth and Fannie Lou Hamer. This event will be held noon March 31 on the Kenosha Campus, in the Madrigano Auditorium located in the Conference Center.
