Gateway students, staff featured in national Working Nation video

Gateway Technical College students, staff and business partners in its Automotive Technology program are featured in the national video “The Drive to Succeed” released this week by Working Nation.

The short video focuses on the strong partnerships Gateway has forged with Snap-on Incorporated to provide a way to match curriculum to the essential skills needed by automotive professionals in today’s world.

It highlights how Gateway’s Automotive Technology program has provided students with the skills to enter their career, as well as its impact on them personally. Scenes from the video include students training at Gateway’s Horizon Center for Transportation Technology as well as working in their career and interacting with their families.

Gateway is often recognized nationally for its solid automotive technology training and its strong partnerships with industry leaders such as Snap-on Incorporated and work with FCA Performance Institute.

WorkingNation is a nonprofit campaign founded in 2016 by venture capitalist Art Bilger to expose hard truths about the looming unemployment crisis and bring the country together to create and amplify solutions for a changing economy. WorkingNation operates in partnership with its 501(c)3 fiscal sponsor, California Community Foundation.

Gateway Technical College collaborates with communities in Kenosha, Racine and Walworth counties to ensure economic growth and viability by providing education, training, leadership and technological resources to meet the changing needs of students, employers and communities.
